PROJECT VIETNAM

Dear Friend:

The distribution of the book "You Can Trust the Communists (to be Communists)" to the servicemen in Vietnam is gaining momentum. We are securing thousands of names and addresses from lists which have appeared in newspapers and are sent to us; churches are forwarding lists of servicemen related to their congregations; and individuals are providing lists secured in various ways.

We are screening each list carefully to avoid duplications and mailing a copy of the book individually with an accompanying letter expressing appreciation of the sacrifice and service each man is giving.

We now need financial support if we are to send this book and letter to the majority of the servicemen. If we send the stamped and addressed books in lots of 200 or more, the postage is 8 cents each book instead of 14 cents. The cost per individual, including purchase, packaging, and postage, is about 25 cents.

To send 200,000 books will cost $50,000.

To send 100,000 books will cost $25,000.

Expressed in another way:

$1,000.00 will provide 4,000 servicemen with books

$500.00 will provide 2,000 servicemen with books

$100.00 will provide 400 servicemen with books

$50.00 will provide 200 servicemen with books

$10.00 will provide 40 servicemen with books

$5.00 will provide 20 servicemen with books

$1.00 will provide 4 servicemen with books

Please send the maximum contribution you can. This is one way we can help and encourage our Forces.

Factors to be considered are the dangers and discomforts these men are enduring; the magnitude of the communist evil; the value of family, freedom, and Christian civilization; and your ability to give.

The understanding this book provides will strengthen the conviction of these men in the righteousness of their cause and the virtue of their sacrifice. It will equip them to continue the battle for freedom when their service in Vietnam ends. They deserve the best we can give.

DO OFFENSIVE MISSILES REMAIN IN CUBA?

Ominous reports are circulating that offensive missiles remain in Cuba. The Administration denies that there is any evidence suggesting the presence of such missiles, but the reports continue. The situation is reminiscent of that which existed prior to the missile crisis of October, 1962. At that time informed individuals, particularly Senator Keating of New York, were stating that missiles were present in Cuba while the government was denying this. Suddenly indisputable evidence of the presence of missiles was discovered and the "eyeball to eyeball" confrontation took place.

In this situation, the statement of Fidel Castro in the speech he delivered on February 6, 1966, attacking the communists of China is significant. This speech has been published in full by the "Peking Review" of February 25, 1966. Fidel Castro says:

"We talk on behalf of a people who did not hesitate for the sake of strengthening the revolutionary movement, for the sake of strengthening the socialist camp, for the sake of firmness and determination in defense of the revolution against the imperialists, did not hesitate to risk the dangers of thermonuclear war, of nuclear attack against us, when in our country and on our territory—with absolute and full rights, which we never renounce, and in an absolutely legitimate action, which we never regret—we agreed to the installation of thermonuclear strategic missiles on our territory! And, besides, not only did we agree to have them brought in but we did not agree to have them taken out!"

These words are ominous. They do not prove that offensive missiles are in Cuba but suggest the possibility of their present or future presence.

It is wise to remember that a second missile crisis in Cuba would be in keeping with the communist philosophy of "dialectical" advance. This method utilizes a series of advances and retreats similar to the hammering of a nail. They return over and over again to the objective they have filed to reach in previous attempts. Because the communists did not succeed in intimidating America on their first attempt, this does not mean they are not trying again. This is the hour for vigilance, not complacency.

It is significant that the American Communist newspaper "The Worker" omitted all reference to this statement of Fidel Castro on nuclear weapons from their report of his speech which was published in "The Worker" of February 20, 1966.

The honeymoon between Communist China and Communist Cuba has now erupted into a passionate family brawl. Communist China was jealous of Cuba's affection for her rival, Soviet Russia. She has attempted to starve Cuba into submission. Castro has responded with language so immoderate and vituperative that you would think he was referring to his arch-enemy, the United States.

It's a family fight, and the sign is up, "Outsiders keep out."

ANTI-COMMUNIST SCHOOL

An Anti-Communist School will be held in Memphis, Tennessee, from April 25-29. One hour will be televised each evening over TV Station, W.M.C.T.

THE NEW LEFT—SHOCK TROOPS AND RESERVES

J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the F.B.I. appeared as a guest columnist in the Los Angeles Herald Examiner on Tuesday, March 8. His subject was "Danger on the Campuses of the Nation." He states:

"The American college student today is being subjected to a bewildering and dangerous conspiracy perhaps unlike any social challenge ever before encountered by our youth. On many campuses he faces a turbulence built on unrestrained individualism, repulsive dress and speech, outright obscenity, disdain for moral and spiritual values, and disrespect for law and order. This movement, commonly referred to as the 'New Left,' is complex in its deceitful absurdity and characterized by its lack of common sense.

". . . The Communist Party, USA, as well as other subversive groups, is jubilant over these new rebellious activities. The unvarnished truth is that the Communist conspiracy is seizing this insurrectionary climate to captivate the thinking of rebellious-minded youth and coax them into the Communist movement itself or at least agitate them into serving the Communist cause.

"This is being accomplished primarily by a two-pronged offensive—a much publicized college speaking program and the campus-oriented Communist W.E.B. DuBois Clubs of America. Therefore, the Communist influence is cleverly injected into civil disobedience and reprisals against our economic, political, and social system.

". . . The participants of the New Left are part of the 100,000 'state of mind' members Gus Hall, the party's general secretary, refers to when he talks of party strength. He recently stated the party is experiencing the greatest upsurge in its history with a 'one to two thousand' increase in membership in the last year.

"For the first time since 1959, the party plans a national convention this spring. . . A Communist student, writing in an official party organ, recently stated, 'There is no question but that the New Left will be won.'"

The Reserves

One important feature which has not received sufficient attention is that behind this "New Left" there are strong reserves. These reserves are the hundreds of thousands of ex-communists who have broken their formal ties with the Communist Party but have not renounced their communist ideas. At its peak, the membership of the American Communist Party was over 100,000. It fell to less than 10,000. Where are these ex-communists and how do they now feel about communism?

These questions have been answered by Professor Eugene D. Genovese of the history department of Rutgers University. Genovese is the Marxist Professor who became nationally famous or infamous when he advocated a Vietcong victory in Vietnam. A speech of his on "The New Left" is published in the "National Guardian" of February 19, 1966. He states:

"I wish to speak about the disorganized and somewhat disenchanted, who undoubtedly form a great majority of the middle-aged radicals in the country." (He means ex-communists). "They are the so-called tired old radicals who gave up the fight. . . They are also—permit me to observe—the people to whom we go when we need to fill the streets with demonstrators or to finance some new project or to support the children who complain about their parents' complacency.

". . . These older radicals continue to serve loyally, pay the bills and tolerate the contempt; they even act as if they deserve it.

". . . Two kinds of guilt haunt these old Leftists and are largely responsible for their pathetic adoration of our present generation of young radicals. Guilt about Stalinism. Guilt about a later accommodation to middle-class life.

". . . Perhaps if our older Leftists stop feeling guilty about their past errors, they may also stop feeling guilty about their present lives. There is somehow something wrong with being professors, doctors, engineers, accountants, business managers, executives, and so forth!" National Guardian, February 19, 1966, pages 6 and 7.

The communist objective is to form a new political movement harnessing the idealism, enthusiasm, and impassioned activity of the "New Left" and merging it with a revitalized "Old Left," thus creating a political force to be used for the service of Soviet Imperialism. The potential danger of this development is great. It is no longer possible to laugh at the internal danger communism presents.

Anti-communist work on the campuses is of utmost importance.

ANTI-COMMUNISM SCHOOLS

In 1964 we conducted an anti-communism school in Washington, D.C. 600 students from 180 campuses gathered in the nation's capital. We provided them with scholarships for transportation, accommodation, meals, and tuition.

If financial support is forthcoming, we plan to conduct similar schools for college and university students in Washington, D.C. and Los Angeles this summer.

THE DOMINOES ARE SHAKING

Communists plan that the countries of Southeast Asia should fall one after the other as each country conquered or subverted serves as a base and sanctuary for the overthrow of the neighboring country. The order has been: North Vietnam; Laos (by partition); Cambodia (by subversion); and South Vietnam was to have been next, then Thailand, Malaysia and Burma.

American action has prevented the military conquest of South Vietnam. The road to Thailand is open through Laos and the attack on that country is intensifying.

Peking Review of March 4, reports: "The people's armed struggle in Thailand is on the rise. More and more people are taking up arms against the twin evils of U.S. imperialism and the traitorous Thai dictatorial regime. . .

"The forming of the Thailand Patriotic Front on New Year's Day 1965 is a milestone in the people's struggle. The Front, which has become the focal point for rallying all patriotic Thai forces, has brought the people's revolutionary struggle to a new high." Peking Review, March 4, 1966, Page 23.

Should South Vietnam fall, the collapse of Thailand could not be long delayed. There would be escalation—escalation of the rate of communist conquest of all Southeast Asia.

RECORD REVIEW

Encouraging comments are being received along with orders for Janet's records:

"One local disc-jockey said he was using the records on his programs and another colleague was doing so also. Seven local radio stations have been sent the three records so far. I plan to utilize the current order in testing local teacher interest." Oklahoma City

A Sister from Butte, Montana, writes, "Sorry I can't be a donor—but I can be a doer. This makes 58 records I've sold."

Janet has added two more songs to the arsenal of freedom. One is a satire on the "New Left" entitled "Poor Left Winger" and the other a tribute to the Cuban refugees entitled "Run." Sheet music of the first six songs is now available at 50 cents per song.

"WHAT IS COMMUNISM" SERIES

Short Messages on Tape and Record

I have just completed fourteen short messages on fundamental aspects of communism. The subjects of these messages are:

- What is Communism?
- The Communist Doctrines of Class and Class Warfare
- The Communist Doctrines of Class Morality and Class Guilt
- The Communist Party
- Communist Recruitment
- Communist Training
- Communist Activity
- Communist Fronts
- The Dictatorship of the Proletariat
- Communist Monopoly
- Communist Strategy to Conquer the U.S.A.
- The Sino-Soviet Conflict
- The Communist Dialectic
- What You Can Do

Each message is recorded on radio tape and on long-playing record. Printed copies are also available.

The purposes for which these messages are designed are: 1) Use as a series by radio stations; 2) Use by schools; 3) Use by study groups.

The messages are educational rather than inspirational and emotional.

Over 250 radio stations have agreed to publicize the work of the Crusade. Many will be running these lectures as a series. Why not check your local radio station and encourage them to do this?

Each message is 13 minutes long and is ideal for a study group. A program of one-hour's length could include: 1) The playing of one message, 2) A chapter from "You Can Trust the Communists (to be Communists)" or "Masters of Deceit" by J. Edgar Hoover, and 3) A discussion period.

The series may be secured on tape or on long-playing records. There are three tapes and four records. Tapes I and II carry six messages. Tape III has two messages and eight anti-communism songs by Janet Greene.

Records I, II, and III carry two messages on each side. Record IV has two messages on one side and eight anti-communist songs by Janet Greene on the other side.

The tapes cost $5 each or $15 for the set.

The records cost $3 each or $10 for the set.

These tools are honed sharp. Please use them.

GHANA LIBERATED

The communists are licking their wounds. Following their debacle in Indonesia, they have now suffered a shattering reverse in Ghana where their outstanding African representative, Kwame Nkrumah has been overthrown.

Ghana was to Africa what Cuba is to Latin America—a center for the training of revolutionaries from other countries in the techniques of sabotage, guerrilla war, subversion and terror from which they returned to overthrow the governments of their own countries. Large numbers of Russians and Chinese were serving as instructors in subversion.

Nkrumah was the self-styled Redeemer and Perpetual President of Ghana. He ruled through his Party which was called the Convention People's Party or CPP. Nkrumah is a communist but the CPP was not a typical Communist Party. He was in the process of transforming it into a Communist Party when he was overthrown.

This is revealed by an article in the February edition of "The World Marxist Review" written by Kofi Batsa, chief editor of Nkrumah's weekly newspaper, The Spark, and deputy of the National Assembly. He writes:

"Kwame Nkrumah has declared that socialism can only be built by socialists, and the battle against the survivals of colonialism in the minds of men is of decisive importance. At its inception the Convention People's Party was a party embracing all sections of the populations, with its roots firmly in the broad mass of the common people.

"The task now is to transform it into a vanguard party leading and organizing the masses on the basis of a common ideology—that of scientific socialism, Marxism-Leninism applied to African conditions. (Note: Marxism-Leninism is a synonym for communism)

"The CPP has rejected the concept of 'African Socialism,' believing it to be neither African nor socialism, seeing it as the offspring of the class-collaborationist doctrines of West European Right-Wing Social-Democracy. The CPP knows only one socialism—scientific socialism—and the aims of the CPP now include 'to pursue the study of scientific socialism as enriched and advanced in Nkrumaism.'" World Marxist Review, February, 1966, Page 41.

Although overthrown, Nkrumah is trying to rally his forces for a counterattack. He has established his base in Guinea, which has a role in Africa similar to that of Ghana. He has been appointed President of Guinea and undoubtedly plans to use military forces trained in Guinea to try to seize power again in Ghana and establish an enlarged communist base.

A battle has been won, but the war goes on.

AMERICAN COMMUNISTS

The resurgent American Communist Party has just published a draft of a New Program. It is a superb example of how communists apply the formula, "Find out what people want; promise it to them; go to work to get it for them so that you may come to power over them."

An analysis of this Communist Program will be featured in our next newsletter.

TO HIM THAT IS DEFILED AND UNBELIEVING, NOTHING IS PURE

The Chinese Communists have published a slashing attack on Christian missionaries in the March 4, edition of the "Peking Review." They accuse American missionaries of committing such evil crimes as: "Running schools and hospitals in the hinterlands of many Asian and African countries;" "supporting national independence;" "expressing sympathy towards social progress;" "remaining behind the scenes and encouraging local churchmen to take the limelight;" "setting up broadcasting and book distribution networks;" and "preaching love and forgiveness."

The remarkable thing is that the Chinese Communists apparently believe that all these activities are part of a conspiracy of evil. They approve the murder of the missionary doctor, Paul Carlson, by the Congolese rebels.

The text of the Chinese Communist statement is as follows:

Hypocrisy of Missionary Activities

"Another weapon in the U.S. 'ideological offensive' is missionary activities. According to statistics for 1958, out of the 29,000 American missionaries abroad, more than 15,000 were in Asia and Africa. . . . By 1963, American missionaries overseas has increased to 33,000.

"In the past, in the name of philanthropy, American missionaries have run schools and hospitals in the hinterlands of many Asian and African countries in order to poison the minds of the local people.

"American missionaries today profess support for national independence and sympathy towards social progress so that they can worm their way into local mass movements, and side-track them into a path of 'reformism' and away from anti-imperialism and revolution.

". . . Churches are deliberately given an indigenous character and religious rites a national form. Local churchmen are encouraged to take the limelight while American missionaries act behind the scenes.

". . . In Africa, American churches in recent years have made greater efforts to set up broadcasting and book distribution networks. . . . By running schools, medical and health services, they try to sneak their way into the local trade union and youth movements so as to increase their influences.

"Recently American missionaries have been advised by their church headquarters to preach 'love' and 'forgiveness' as a means to calm the anti-imperialist temper of the Afro-Asian people. Actually they miss no opportunity to engage in criminal underhand activities. The execution of the American missionary doctor-cum-special agent Paul Carlson by the Congolese (L) people in 1964 shows what is up the sleeve of U.S. imperialism in its foreign missionary operations." Peking Review, March 4, 1966, Pages 16 and 17.

The appropriate reaction of Christians should be to increase the support of missionaries who are giving themselves unstintingly to spread the light and love of Christ and His Gospel.
